The *HP4Life*SM Steering and Planning Group extends profound thanks to each of the above-cited organizations. Their direct support and continuing interest in the development of the *HP4Life*SM draft Model and Concept, and involvement with the two-day invitational Workshop has been of inestimable value. The measure of that value will be visible and tangible upon the publication and distribution of the *HP4Life*SM Workshop proceedings, wide distribution of the refined *HP4Life*SM Model and Concept and adoption of useful and definitive actions that result in both the public and private sectors.

Throughout the year leading up to the *HP4Life*SM Workshop, members of the Steering Group and the principal architect worked together to prepare and oversee the development of the *HP4Life*SM Draft Model and Concept for introduction to and refinement by dedicated professionals convened for that purpose at the two day Workshop. As principal architect, Larry Chapman tirelessly prepared, revised and improved the technical specifications for the *HP4Life*SM. Special recognition is due for Larry's contributions to the success of this unique Model designed to stabilize health spending and improve the health of those who participate in *HP4Life*SM. The *HP4Life*SM Steering Group included the following highly respected volunteers who gave unselfishly of their time, advice, and effort: Bernadene Dochnahl, Aaron Katz, John Pierce, Federico Cruz, Vicki Wilson, and Jeff Gingold. Acting as group facilitators at the HP4Life Workshop, Bernadene, Aaron, and John were joined by Tom Jones, Cynthia Voortman, and Lori Evans. The Workshop Lead Facilitator was James Whitfield, whose time was generously donated by the Washington Health Foundation. Additional thanks go to Mary K. Guiden for maintaining the daily minutes of the Workshop proceedings and for compiling and editing the final *HP4Life*SM Workshop Report to the Public.

And lastly, deep appreciation is due to the nearly 60 people and their organizations who contributed their time as active discussants and participants in the HP4Life Workshop. Over two days they reviewed, discussed, and refined the strawman draft via an intense process that produced the Health Plan for Life Model and Concept as it appears in this Report.
