38	Jean	Berkey	Jean Berkey for State Senate	PO Box 2190	Everett	98213-0190	jeanberkey@earthlink.net		X		I believe every person in the state of Washington will agree that government needs to be more efficient and performance audits are a valuable tool that can be used to measure and improve efficiency. I do not believe, however, that setting up another state bureaucracy to audit the state bureaucracy we already have is going to accomplish much. I believe an audit must be supported by the organization being audited if it is to be of much benefit. I will continue to support auditing or performance measurement programs that I believe will be of benefit to citizens of this state.

23	Phil	Rockefeller	Rockefeller for Senate	PO Box 1790, PMB 175	Silverdale	98383-8529	rockberry@seanet.com		X		I do strongly support the conduct of performance audits throughout all of state government, and have done so consistently since my first campaign for the House in 1996. As a House member the past six years, it's been my privilege to serve on the Joint Legislative & Audit Review Committee (JLARC), which as you and EFF's executive director, Bob Williams, should know, is carrying out the performance audit function entrusted to it by law, and doing so very effectively. I currently serve as Vice Chair of JLARC, having served out the term of Chair following the retirement of then-Chair Val Ogden from the House in 2003, prior to it rotating to the Senate majority. JLARC strictly adheres to the Government Accounting Standards published by the U.S. General Accounting Office, and has done so with distinction.

	Phil	Rockefeller	continued								It has received national awards for the quality of its work from peer reviews. It is, in addition, bi-partisan, and gains credibility from that fact. It has the authority to make use of outside contractors and consultants, and does so extensively to augment the analytical and research capabilities of its own staff. JLARC members (8 from Senate, 8 from House), in my direct experience, are fiercely protective of its independence as a watchdog for governmental waste and inefficiency, strongly committed to continuous improvement of executive branch performance, and prepared and effective in leveraging its credibility among legislators, the executive branch, and general public, to achieve agency implementation of the reforms as recommended by its performance

35	Tim	Sheldon			Hoodsport	98548		X			Performance audits are necessary for accountability in government and business. Our Washington State Ferry System cannot account for over $1 million in lost fares for eleven straight years. The public needs a watchdog agency with teeth. If government is operating efficiently and honestly, it has nothing to fear or hide.
